

Case study-

Social Security schemes are the life saving weapon.

Ajodhya Naik an 80 year old women, living in Ghantopali with one of her relatives, she is visually impaired and partially hearing impaired, although she married in Sankirasira, after the death of her husband she is living with her younger sister in that village. Her health condition is not good, The family living in a hut, and that lady living in the verandah, which was covered by the branches of the tree. The financial condition of the family is not good, but Ajodhya getting two meals as well as she had got the old age pension of next four month. Also the family received the PDS for next three month, at list these social security schemes are supporting Ajodhya and the family.

These social security schemes really can save the life of this family during such a crises.

