

Resource Inventory of District Pulwama

DDMA Pulwama

INTRODUCTION

Community resource mapping is a strategy for promoting interagency collaboration by better aligning programs and services for youth and families. The major goal of community resource mapping is to ensure that all youth have access to a broad, comprehensive, and integrated system of services essential in achieving desired school and post-school outcomes. Community resource mapping can be used to improve education, workforce development, and economic development in a community by aligning available services and resources, streamlining those services and resources, and identifying areas of need.

The idea of resource mapping builds on the community's strengths by increasing the frequency, duration, intensity, and quality of services and supports in the community. It is a way to organize information and give direction to meet a common community goal. As a result of resource mapping, families and youth have more flexibility and choice in navigating the system. The alignment of resources, streamlining of resources, and identification of service gaps within the community enables educators and service providers to (a) understand the full range of services available to youth within a community, (b) more efficiently provide the specific supports needed by each youth, and (c) develop new services and supports targeted to fill existing gaps.

In recent years, the Government of Jammu & Kashmir has been giving increased focus towards the Disaster Management and related aspects. It is because of the fact that J&K State is vulnerable to multiple natural hazards like floods, earthquake, landslides, fire, drought, windstorm, snow avalanches, drowning incidents etc resulting in loss of lives, damage to the property, infrastructure and public utilities. The State has already witnessed various disasters like earthquake of 2005, flashfloods in Leh and massive floods in the Valley in September 2014.

District Pulwama is no exception to this and has too witnessed various disasters during the course of history. However, the resilience shown by the district in tiding over the periods of disaster has always remained impeccable. During 2014 deluge, District Authorities in collaboration with NGOs, Mass Social Organizations and volunteers has not only responded to the disaster with unparalleled bravery but have expeditiously responded and recovered from such an unprecedented deluge within the shortest possible time. The socio-economic activities have again been restarted, the shelter and livelihood of tens and thousands of affectees' have been restored. This not only shows the valour and managerial skills of the District Administration but depicts the resilient nature and will-power of the common masses.

In order to address the root cause of vulnerability to natural disaster, District Administration of Pulwama is in the process of shifting its government policies towards proactive preparedness, mitigation and prevention. This highlights the links between disaster management and development, calling for a cross-sectoral approach to identify the bottlenecks to risk reduction. Efforts must mobilize a variety of actors – government, private sector and civil society – to complement each other with their respective expertise, while allocating specific and binding responsibilities to overcome difficulties of collective action.

The Disaster Management Plan projects a number of infrastructural requirements, operational structures and modalities of action for a safe and disaster-resilient district. These will not become a reality immediately. It requires financial, technical and human resources to be deployed, which will inevitably take some time. It would be a grave error to assume that, with an available Plan, we have a ready to hand blueprint that will enable the District machinery and other stakeholders to immediately act for the next subsequent disaster. With this document, the District Administration and other Line Departments need to plan a structured, time-bound process of implementation and realization.

No Disaster Management Plan at any level will be of value if there are inadequate trained human resources to understand, implement and, when necessary, upgrade the Disaster Management Plan.

We hope that this document shall go a long way in helping the District Administration in tackling the disaster situations in a systematic, tandem and smoothmanner.

District profile:

Pulwama is surrounded by hilly terrain, which is 2000 Mtrs. above sea level. As per altitude from sea level the district can be divided into three zones i.e. Zone first fall upto the level of 1700 meters zone second falls between 1700 to 2000 mtrs and Zone Third above 2000 mtrs. Zone first covers the entire area of Tehsil Pulwama, Pampore and a portion of Tehsil Tral. Zone Second major portion of Tehsil Tral is falling under this zone. Forests extending upto alpine height fall in zone third with a number of meadows. The river Jhelum passes through this district from Anantnag to Srinagar. The water of river Jhelum, a navigated channel is utilized for irrigation purposes through lift irrigation system. The maximum rainfall as recorded in district during the schedule year 1998 was 772.30 mm. Most of the higher reaches in Tehsil Tral experience early snowfall in winters. The district experiences rainfall during the winter and early summer from western disturbances & monsoon rains from July onwards. AVAILABILITY OF RESOURCES

The primary focus is to enable the decision makers to find solutions on availability of equipment and human resources required to combat any emergency situation. A District Disaster Resource Network has to be established to collect, compile and update information on resources available and integrate with the GIS – based state resource network for timely use. The different agencies involved at the time of (i) collection and compilation, (ii) creating GIS based network and access, (iii) maintaining and updating the network needs to be identified.

The stakeholders as identified from above table includes the Fire and Emergency Services Department, Civil Defence (SDRF), Para Military Forces, Traffic Police, Forest Department, Police, Irrigation & Flood Control Department, Power Development Department, Agriculture Department, Horticulture Department, Food Civil Supplies & Consumer Affairs Department, Veterinary Department, Animal Husbandry Department, Health Department, Government Medical College, Education Board, Social Welfare, Red Cross, Sub-Divisional Magistrates, Block Development Officers, NGOs. The availability of resources should be regularly monitored and updated on IDRN Website to combat any emergency situation in the District. Information in the database will enable stakeholders in DRR to assess the level of preparedness for specific hazards.

INDIA DISASTER RESOURCE NETWORK (IDRN)

India Disaster Resource Network (IDRN) has taken an initiative to collect and collate information on resources available in the Country/State/District for emergency response and to enhance the decision-making capabilities of Government functionaries in quick response to emergencies.

IDRN is accessible to the Emergency Officers, District Collectors and other disaster managers at various levels of Government.

A web-enabled centralized database for the IDRN is operational enabling quick access to resources to minimize response time in emergencies. The system gives the location of specific equipments/specialist resources as well as the controlling authority for that resource so that it can be mobilized for response in the shortest possible time.

All the proactive steps shall be taken to verify and update dataset on IDRN database as per pre-devised formats ('Form1' & 'Form 2A, 2B & 2C') provided on the IDRN Website.

EMERGENCY OPERATIONS CENTRES (EOCS)/ CONTROL ROOMS

During large scale emergencies or disasters, the EOC become the centre of co-ordination, planning, resource mobilization and deployment, communication, information management and dissemination. Yet another significant feature of the EOC is that it acts as the platform where key decision makers and administrators' interface with technical experts in the provisioning of legitimate emergency authority and expertise. The Incident Commander takes charge at the District Control Room and commands the emergency operations as per the Incident Command System (ICS) Organizational chart.

Police Control Room Pulwama is being temporarily utilized as DEOC for emergency communications during disasters/any other exigency. However, 02 Kanals of State land has been identified for establishment of EOC along with a store facility at estate Sarnal, near Fire & Emergency Services Station along K.P. Road. The land is feasible for establishment of EOC having proper connectivity. The estimated cost for construction of DEOC is Rs 90.00 lacs approximately.

For effective disaster response mechanism, additional EOCs are to be established. The Sub-Divisional Magistrate concerned shall take charge as Nodal Officer of Sub Divisional Emergency Operations Centre.

In addition to the above, Tehsil Control Room shall also be located in the office of Tehsildar. The Tehsildars of the respective Tehsils shall take charge of the Control Room. The respective Tehsildar shall act and coordinate between the Task Group members working at disaster sites and Block/Panchayat Level Disaster Management Committees for mobilization of resources and dissemination of instructions received from DEOC.
